ISSUE: JANUARY 2023

Hi Everyone,

We hope you all had a lovely Christmas and New Year. We must admit we are loving the little cover of snow, but we are looking forward to the longer days that the Spring has to offer. With the temperatures being low at this time of year, we would like to remind those of you that have small furries that live outside to make sure they have plenty of hay and bedding to keep them warm during the cold nights.

Also, a gentle reminder to you all that if you're out walking your dog, please do not let them play on top of ice over frozen water. If your dog falls into the water, there is a high risk of hypothermia, and this can be very serious. Should your dog fall into the water, do your best to retrieve them and call us immediately.

January has been a very busy month at Coquet Vets. We are excited to report that we are continuing to grow, and we have registered many new pets from the cutest cocker spaniel puppies to rescued rabbits. However, we have also had a few emergency surgeries keeping us busy too. This included a splenectomy (removal of the spleen) due to a tumour growing on the spleen, removal of some bladder stones, and removal of an actual stone from the beach that a dog had decided to eat!

Over the month of February and March, we are offering 10% off neutering of dogs and cats. If you are a member of our Coquet Pet Club you will receive a further 5% off, so a total of 15% off the cost of full price neutering. We offer free neutering advice with our Veterinary Nurses, so if you have any questions or you want more advice on the procedure, please let us know.

CHOKING DOG - WHAT TO DO

Although extremely uncommon, choking is not unheard of in dogs, especially larger breeds. Complete obstruction of the airway is very rare, but it can be catastrophic when it occurs and is deemed as an emergency. This month, we shared important advice on what to do if you suspect a dog is choking on something.

VIDEO: HOW TO HELP A CHOKING DOG

Included in our 'Choking Dog – What to Do' article this month, we also shared some additional advice from First Aid for Life that shows you more on what you can do to help a choking dog. It could save a dog's life – your own or someone else's – so please take a moment to watch this short video.
