ISSUE 23 - MARCH 2022

Hi Everyone,

We have had a very successful Dental Month. Our Vet, Emily, has been kept very busy with all different types of dental work. From a basic scale and polish (which is not often) to multiple extractions of up to 11 teeth taken out of one dog! We have also seen a tooth root abscess on both sides of a dog's mouth due to severe dental disease.

Dental disease can cause all sorts of problems to your pet leaving them with mouth ulcers, bleeding gums and loose teeth. In extreme cases, a build-up of bacteria in the mouth can lead to kidney and heart problems.

Regular health checks (every 6 months) ensure that your pets are getting a full clinical examination with one of our Vets. They will examine from top to tail and check your pet's mouth. Don't forget that we offer free dental checks, as we are passionate about your pet's dental health. If you notice tartar build up or smelly breath, please call us to get your pet checked.

We recently reached our 3000th patient! We are growing every day and we are so grateful to our amazing clients. We included some of you in our 2nd birthday celebration video last month as a thank you for choosing the Coquet Vets team. If you missed it, check out the video link in this month's newsletter.

We are excited that this April will see us hosting our first of many evening talks at our practice. Our Canine First Aid Evening is happening on Thursday 21st April, and will be held by our Vet, Emily. We are now fully booked for this event, but if you are keen to attend, please call us. We can check if any last-minute places are available, and we can always plan another event if enough people are interested.

We are also pleased to announce that we will have our Arthritis Evening on Tuesday 24th May, which will be held by our Vet, Rebecca. Our Arthritis Evening is free, and anyone can come along. Just give us a call to book your place.

Finally, the month of April is National Pet Month, so there will be a few competitions and prizes to be won as part of this. Make sure to like us on Facebook and look out for the latest details on our page.

Stay safe, and we look forward to seeing you at your next visit.

WHY WE ARE PASSIONATE ABOUT YOUR PET'S DENTAL HEALTH

Dental disease is one of the most common diseases that we see in small animal practice. Animals will continue to eat, play and act normal, even if they are in pain, which is why having regular check-ups is so important. Here's why we are so passionate about your pet's dental health.
